Dr Carolyn Harris Johnson is a social worker, researcher and lecturer of almost 40 years' experience. Her research interests include, intimate partner homicide and familicide.

Carolyn's ground-breaking research on familicide following separation has since been presented nationally and internationally at many different conference and policy informing forums on Domestic Violence and Family Law. Her book, "Come with Daddy" was the first book published on Familicide and her conceptualisation of the intrapsychic processes in Intimate Partner Homicide and Familicide have been published in many professional articles and in the book "When Parents Kill Children: Understanding Filicide (2018)".

Dr Johnson is a member of the WA Ombudsman's Advisory Panel on Domestic Homicide and Child Death. Her presentation will be extremely interesting and no doubt an 'eye-opener' for us all as her research and knowledge on this subject is second to none.
