There was never any room for compromise! New Zealand born Megan Larsen began making her own skin care products in the early 1990s—it was 100% natural or nothing! Even the tiniest amount of synthetic chemicals can be harmful and so Sodashi was born.

Today, Sodashi is known for its uniquely ethical approach to doing business, training every single therapist that employs its skincare and supplying the world's most exclusive spas in over 25 countries with an extraordinary range of more than 100 professional and spa-retail products that constantly evolve to meet the needs of high-end clients.

In an ever more discerning world, Megan's ethics are increasingly relevant, setting the benchmark and not wavering since she started. Hear more about her background in aesthetics, aromatherapy, Ayurveda, transcendental meditation, biochemistry and natural healthcare. Join us for dinner and see why Sodashi seeks to nurture and celebrate each individual's unique beauty.
